
Doctors in Italy 2025

April 25 – May 9, 2025

General Program Information:

The Office of Global Health (OGH) at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC) is sponsoring an international program for students in Bologna, Italy, providing an opportunity to earn course or clinical credit based on each student's respective program of study.

The primary objective of this program is to enable students to critically examine and contrast the Italian healthcare delivery model with the U.S. system. This will be achieved through observational experiences in various departments within an Italian hospital, structured didactic sessions on the Italian healthcare system, and guided reflection.

To support this comparative study, each student will be paired with Italian healthcare professionals, with an effort to match students with English-speaking nurses and physicians. Observational rotations are scheduled Monday through Friday, for 4–6 hours per day, with one day off per week. Rotations will take place in hospital settings, with potential experiences in outpatient clinics. Students will shadow in pairs of two to three, with oversight provided by TTUHSC faculty and medical staff affiliated with the Doctors in Italy program.

Program Costs:

The cost of the program is $4,390, and includes lodging, in-country transportation, select meals (including breakfast), administrative costs, and select cultural activities.

Additional expenses not covered by the program fee include international airfare (approximately $1,200), additional meals, and personal spending.

Selected participants must submit an initial payment of $2,465 by Friday, January 31, 2024. Deposits will be paid to Doctors in Italy through a provided payment link. Full payment is due to Doctors in Italy by Friday, February 28, 2025.
